Notable Drath.—A notable personage has just died—Augustus Smith, King of the Scilly Islands—of which there are 104, although only six are inhabited. Mr. Smith was a wealthy and crotchety Englishman, who in regard to government had notions of his own which he wished to carry into practice, and so he became lesses of the Scilly Islands. He thus became King of about 2,000 subects, most of whom were a wretched lot of peasants, for the islands are poor and unfruitful. With a court of twelve men he ruled the land, readjusted the rela-tions of land and people, and attended generally to their moral, social and re-ligious status, although in the latter item ligious status, although in the latter item he was not very strict. He made the children go to school, and in every par-ticular the inhabitants had to obey him almost as if they were slaves. Once he packed off all the residents of one of the islands, and turned it into a deer park, but in recompense he gave the poor peo-ple better accommodations than they ple better accommodations than they had before. At first he was greatly dis-liked, but when the islanders came to see that his rule was wise and beneficent, and that they greatly improved under it, they learned to like and respect h m, and his death was much regretted. This is probably the first king who has borne the name of Smith, at least in modern times, and it is not likely that he will have a successor to his title.

A stormy live affair in Freeport, Ill., has recently had its desired termination. As long ago as 1865, a Mr. Morrison, now editor of a paper at Albion, Mich., became engaged to a Miss Mohsier, and departed for California to make his fortune, vowing constancy and eternal fideli-ty. But all his letters to her were inter-Postmaster of the place, and finally he made the heart-broken lady believe her lover had become recreant and married another. When he thought the blow softened her he offered himself, and with the indifference of disparents. solution are no on-red himself, and win the indifference of dispair she accepted him. After their marriage he told her all, relying on her mercy. She wasn't merci-ful at all, however, but went to work and obtained a divorce as speedily as the laws of Illinois would let her. Not long since Mr Morrisonsappeared, explanation followed, and she is now the happy wife of a happy man.

THE COTTON TRADE.-The United States received from England last year, the sum of $184,000,000 for cotton. ries and wided $188,000,000 of value to it as profit, more than doubling her money. This is the result of the application of manufacturing facilities. We could do likewise, and the magnificent water-power around the falls of the Ohio is wasting for somebody to utilize it, to ob-tain proportionate lucrative results.

There is no longer any temptation to indulge in tight lacing, for a small waist is no longer considered fashionable; that is, a waist out of proportion to the hight of the figure and the breadth of the shoulders. Fashion and comfort, therefore, are for once happily in accord with each other. Another reform is that the waist is now displayed the natural length, which, in a properly proportioned figure, is in a line midway between the him and the lower rib. tween the hip and the lower rib.

An editor down east lately killed a lady in his paper. The bereaved husband visited him. "Villain," cried the enraged husband, "you have killed my wife!" Editor, with dignity, "Sir, I am not a doctor." "That 's just it," cried the bereaved husband. the bereaved husband, "you have killed her on paper, and she's alive." "If she is not dead I congratulate you." "Congratulate! I demand damages for disappointment."

A St. Louis paper of recent date says:
"Among the many female vagrants of this city the most noted is Louise Agnes Cooper, born of wealthy parents, who gave her a good education. She is the most successful shoft-lifter of the city,
and has deposited in the banks several thousand dollars, the fruit of kleptomania. When last arrested she called for pencil and paper, and wrote a despairing
ode for the papers."

Money is spent lavishly on criminals in Great Britain and Ireland. In England and Wales, in 1869, there were 36,000 criminal prosecutions, which cost $1,140,000. In Scotland there were 6,200 prosecutions, costing $125,000. In Ireland there were 5,500 prosecutions, traceting $225,000.

Human work, to be effectual, must be the result of clear thinking. It is true that much of life's labor is performed with comparatively little thought, but it is not less the result of thought.

He that speaketh against his own reason, speaks and not his own conscience,
and therefore a certain no man serves conscience who serves reason.
